

Bouschor left office on one last lie...

Claiming that his termination and settlement of the employment contracts, for several key employees, was so "The new Chairman would experience a smooth transition", was just one more lie.

The payoff was planned before the election results, as a backup, in case Bouschor was to loose.

He paid off three tribal attorneys, a CFO, his Communications, Human Resource and Executive Director He offered the chief of police, Fred Paquin, a buyout but, he instead, took a hefty 20k plus pay raise.

He didn't ask the newly elected Chairman or the Board of Directors if this would suit them.

He wasn't even slightly interested in preserving the administrative continuity. He was only interested in paying off his political promise. The results of this type of corruption and abuse of power will be felt for some time. You can't eliminate that many key figures without hurting the function of government and ultimately the Tribe.

Bernard did not have the right to terminate and settle up the contracts. It appears to have been planned.....by the ousted Chairman and his attorneys.

How did Bernard know how much was left in their employment contracts?

Did he just guess?

Who provided him with that information?

There were many coconspirators involved.

Why wouldn't the "public servant and sitting chairman" Benard Booschor notify the Board or the incoming Chairman of his plans to reduce the tribal cash by two and a half million dollars?

Do you think that he really cares anything for the tribal members?

Is that amount too small to bring to anyone's attention?

Corruption and Abuse of power

You know it when you see it.

Bernard Bouschor left the tribal government with just one more lie.
